People who performed rescue, recovery and clean-up at the World Trade Center and other designated sites after the terror attacks of 9/11 are eligible for workers’ compensation benefits (medical care and lost wages) if they were injured or became ill as a result of that duty. The benefits available to World Trade Center workers and volunteers depend on their employer or role in rescue, recovery and clean-up operations.

Preserve Your Workers’ Compensation Rights

Paid workers and volunteers who participated in the rescue, recovery and clean-up of the World Trade Center (WTC) should file a Registration of Participation in World Trade Center Rescue, Recovery and/or Clean-Up Operations (Form WTC-12) with the New York State Workers’ Compensation Board. Registering your service preserves your right to future workers’ compensation benefits, should you ever need them, if you become ill as a result of your service at the World Trade Center and associated areas. Note: You do not have to be presently ill to register.
